SURP Interns...

... attend and present research at the Leadership Alliance National Symposium (LANS).
... work on research focusing on schools, classrooms, and other youth settings linked to child development.
... take part in workshops and GRE prep classes.

Learn more about SURP: http://curry.virginia.edu/surp

What is SURP?

SURP is an 10-week internship that provides undergraduates from underrepresented groups with valuable research and professional development experience under the guidance of UVA faculty.

Our goal is to strengthen the skills needed to successfully complete a doctoral program in educational research. We want to attract the most competitive, diverse group of students to the Curry School of Education programs, and diversify the field of education research.

CONTACT US

Check out our website: http://curry.virginia.edu/surp to learn more about the program and the research opportunities available for this upcoming summer.

Please e-mail us at CurrySURP@virginia.edu

How SURP Fits You

SURP intern must be a member of a group that is underrepresented in educational research including racial and ethnic minorities, low income students, and first-generation college students.

Interns must be enrolled full-time at a four-year college or university, be in their junior year of study at the time of application, and have at least a 3.0 cumulative GPA.

WHAT YOU WILL RECEIVE

SURP interns are eligible for:

• A $3000 stipend for the course of the 8-week session in Charlottesville,
• Up to $250 for travel expenses to/from Charlottesville,
• $500 toward meals,
• Housing in a university residence hall,
• Paid registration and travel to a research conference,
• And an application fee waiver when applying to graduate programs at the Curry School of Education.

Apply Now!

To apply for SURP, students must submit the following documents by February 1:

• the SURP application form (found on our website),
• a current résumé or CV,
• official transcripts in sealed envelopes from all colleges/universities attended,
• two recommendations (using the recommendation form on our website), and
• a personal statement.